Changes that occur with aging

can lead to problems with mobility (ability to move around), such as unsteadiness while walking, difficulty getting in and out of a chair, or falls. Muscle weakness, joint problems, pain, disease, and neurological (brain and nervous system) difficulties-common conditions in older people-can all contribute to mobility problems. Sometimes several mild problems occur at one time and combine to seriously affect mobility.

StrongArm Mobility

NEW!

Strongarm Mobility Forearm Cane

Lightweight, height adjustable mobility device that provides greater support, stability, and safety as compared to other forearm crutches. Uniquely combines a hand grip and bracing element in a handle that shifts loads from wrists to forearms, providing better support than a conventional cane. The bracing action of the cradle fully stabilizes the wrist, making the StrongArm feel like a solid extension of the arm. Cushioned surfaces and the "hook-like" Cradle make it easy to prop the device against a wall, or hang it from chair, tables or railing. Combines a handgrip centered over the floor tip and a wrist-stabilizing forearm brace in a simple, one-piece, ergonomically smart shape. Hexagonal Floor Tip with angled sides that flatten under pressure for improved traction and stability.

Professionally fitted shoes and prescription footwear

Professionally fitted shoes and prescription footwear are an important part of the overall treatment of the insensate foot because they aid in preventing limb loss. Footwear should relieve areas of excessive pressure, reduce shock and shear, and accommodate, stabilize, and support deformities.

Shoes should be long enough, and have room in the toe area and over the instep. Shoes with laces allow adjustment for edema and deformities. Most people with early neuropathic changes can wear cushioned commercial footwear such as walking or athletic shoes. Some people also may need the pressure areas redistributed with custom orthotics that often require depth footwear.

CPR... "Buying Time"

The value of early CPR by bystanders is that it can "buy time" by maintaining some blood flow to the heart and brain during cardiac arrest. Early bystander CPR is less helpful if EMS personnel equipped with a defibrillator arrive later than 8-12 minutes after the collapse.

Philips

Every year in the US, sudden cardiac arrest (SCA) claims the lives of more than 340,000 people and hundreds of thousands more worldwide. Today, fewer than 5% of SCA victims survive, largely because defibrillators do not reach them in time. External defibrillation (AED) technology helps improve survival outcomes where ever and when ever sudden cardiac arrest occurs. With the purchase of the HeartStart Home Defibrillator, Philips is pleased to offer discount coupons for CPR/AED training courses from the American Red Cross, American Heart Association, and Medic First Aid.
